

Thanks for supporting this project!

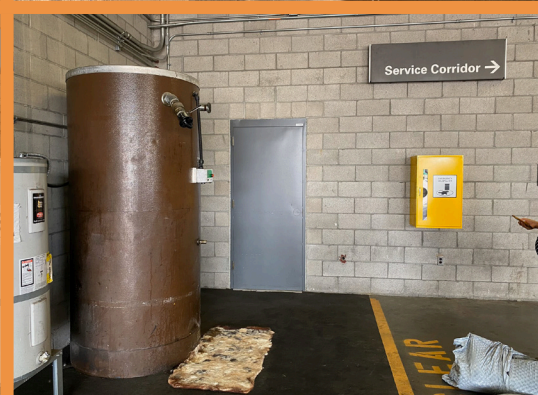

This oil spill mat / boom is made from waste fiber clippings (hair from salons, fur from groomers, wool and fleece from ranches).

You shampoo because hair collects oil!

This is a renewable resource growing in front of our eyes. Our charity makes these in San Francisco and is opening up satellite, cottage industry, green jobs, felting stations all over the world to collect fiber and make these for local usage. SFO is helping us demonstrate where they are useful. They are unusual, durable and planet-friendly, so we are trying to establish the right price point.

If you need mats or know stylists / groomers, let us know. Your suggestions, comments, ideas and questions are always welcome at team@matteroftrust.org

Thanks from all of us at Matter of Trust

Thanks for supporting this project!

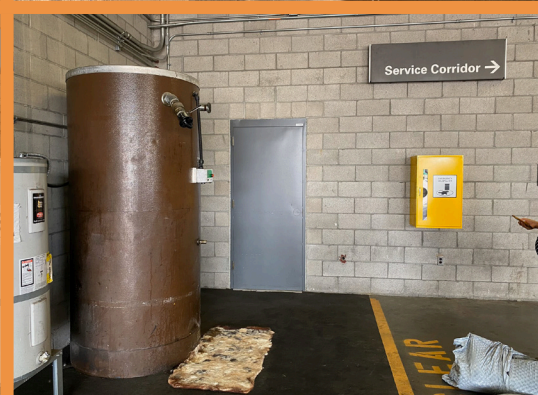

This oil spill mat / boom is made from waste fiber clippings (hair from salons, fur from groomers, wool and fleece from ranches).

You shampoo because hair collects oil!

This is a renewable resource growing in front of our eyes. Our charity makes these in San Francisco and is opening up satellite, cottage industry, green jobs, felting stations all over the world to collect fiber and make these for local usage. SFO is helping us demonstrate where they are useful. They are unusual, durable and planet-friendly, so we are trying to establish the right price point.

If you need mats or know stylists / groomers, let us know. Your suggestions, comments, ideas and questions are always welcome at team@matteroftrust.org

Thanks from all of us at Matter of Trust

Matter of Trust . org

Join Eco-Enthusiasts
For Renewable Resources